January 22, 2009

The Speedball Art Products Block Printing Inks are not primarily intended for use or marketed specifically for children 12 years of age or younger. They have not been evaluated for these criteria. They have however, been evaluated by ACMI (Art and Creative Materials Institute) guidelines according to ASTM D4236 and LHAMA (Labeling of Hazardous Art Materials). The evaluation is done by Duke University. The product was found to be nontoxic for its intended use. This product was most recently evaluated and approved in January of 2008. If you require further information, or further testing, please let us know.
